

#PodcastsInTheClassroom

Episode Question Ideas: Episode 111

Racially just Adaptation + Urban Planning and Climate Inequities + Fate of 100 Resilient Cities and much more with Dr. Linda Shi

<https://www.americaadapts.org/episodes/2020/5/3/podcast-racially-just-adaptation-urban-planning-and-climate-inequities-fate-of-100-resilient-cities-and-much-more-with-dr-linda-shi>

Full Episode Questions

- Define structural, procedural, and distributive injustices. Provide one or more examples of each in context of climate change adaptation.
- Describe the ways that climate adaptation may differ for people living in urban, suburban, and rural areas. How might we consider these intricacies in planning for municipalities that include more than one of these types of areas?
- Name three characteristics that may influence real estate vulnerability. How might these vulnerabilities vary for different races, income groups, genders, etc.?
- In 200-300 words outline an idea for a transformative climate adaptation plan in your region. Then, in another 200 words describe how you will account for social differences in your plan, making it racially just.

This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial 4.0 International License.